Wildguides@Tuli – a safari with a difference

Tuli Safari Lodge is offering visitors to Botswana a holiday experience with a difference – a fascinating, action-packed adventure that puts them in the shoes a safari guide. It is ideal for people who want to extend their knowledge and go beyond the ‘usual’ safari experience.

The course is based in the Northern Tuli Game Reserve – a genuine wilderness area with dramatic landscapes, diverse flora & fauna, 350+ bird species, interesting geology and significant archaeological sites – located just across the South African border near Mapungubwe.

This 4 day/3 night course is designed to equip guests with some of the skills and awareness of a safari guide. They learn in a hands-on ways how to track animals, drive a 4x4, read bush sign, navigate using the stars, predict animal behaviour, handle a rifle, understand animal/plant interaction and approach, view & retreat from animals.

The course trainers are from Okavango Guiding School - experts in their field with unparalleled guiding experience as well as being intricately involved with developing the new guiding standards in Botswana.

Wildguides@Tuli is based at Tuli Bush Camps' Nokalodi Tented Camp, beautifully sited between the Limpopo River and stunning sandstone cliffs. Course attendees sleep in very comfortable safari tents with en-suite outdoor bathrooms. Guests can also relax for a few nights before or a after the course at Tuli Safari Lodge – an idyllic base from which to explore the area with its majestic landscape, spectacular wildlife and fascinating history. If this course gets their adrenalin pumping, they could also try one of Okavango Guiding School's 28 night guide training courses.

The rates are P6900 (R9245) per person. Course dates for 2010 are 24-27 May; 28-31 May; 22-25 Aug and 26-29 Aug.
